

OptTek Systems, Inc. Partners with Incontrol Enterprise Dynamics to Provide Optimization Capability, E.D. OptQuest®

Boulder, CO, August 25, 2003 – OptTek Systems, Inc., and Incontrol Enterprise Dynamics, a simulation solutions provider headquartered in The Netherlands, are pleased to announce the release of an optimization software module, called E.D. OptQuest®. E.D. OptQuest enhances the decision support capabilities of the Enterprise Dynamics simulation software by integrating the world-class global optimization methods developed by OptTek.

“E.D. OptQuest adds full optimization functionality to Enterprise Dynamics. With this optimizer users can optimize simulation models to determine an optimal configuration e.g. to maximize output or minimize costs.” said Fred Jansma, Head of Development for Incontrol Enterprise Dynamics.

“Combining OptQuest and Enterprise Dynamics provides an excellent match and gives OptTek the opportunity to partner with the Incontrol Enterprise Dynamics software. This will give us a stronger presence in markets outside the U.S.” stated Dr. James P. Kelly, OptTek’s CEO. “Both of our companies are looking forward to a strong alliance that will bring significant added value to our customers.”
